Reunion Planning Update

Reunion registration is underway! Whether you’re able to come for the whole weekend or just a portion of it, there are a range of flexible options for participating. Here’s the link to register: https://yale-alumni-events.secure.force.com/PreRegistration?EventCode=REU-1998

The 20th Reunion Committee is putting the finishing touches on what’s shaping up to be a fantastic weekend. You can join a discussion about current events with classmates from the front lines, be inspired by insights from the Yale faculty, tour the newest additions to our beautiful campus, and socialize with friends old and new. Stay tuned for the final schedule in our next Newsletter.

Classmates are encouraged to bring their family or significant other and share the Yale experience! For more information on family fun and activities during Reunion weekend, please see our first Newsletter here: VOLUME 1 - MARCH 6, 2018.

The Reunion Book is open for submissions! We hope you’ll take a few minutes to submit some photos or notes for the book. You have to submit to be included, and we’d just love to get as many names and faces included as possible! Logins have been emailed to all classmates with instructions for completing your page. If you have any questions, please contact Y’98 Book Editor Rebecca Friedman at rebeccafriedman@hotmail.com. The deadline is April 23 to be included in the book.

Are you an author, songwriter, filmmaker or other artist? Do you have works available online that you’d like to share with the class? We’re building a Classmate “Summer Reading” list that we’ll be sharing in our next Newsletter. To be included, or to nominate a classmate’s work, please provide us with your name and email (or theirs), residential college, and a link to their content (Amazon, iBooks, IMDB, podcast link, etc). Please email submissions to yalealumn98@yahoo.com. The deadline is April 15 to be included in the list.

Visit our Reunion homepage here: http://aya.yale.edu/content/1998-20th-reunion-may-24-2017-198

And join our Facebook page here: https://www.facebook.com/groups/1731276663838420/

Dining at Yale: It Ain’t What it Used to Be

Pop quiz: Which of the following is NOT on the menu for Reunion weekend?
• Seared Boneless Lebanese Chicken with Cilantro & Spiced Marinade
• Roasted Sweet Potato and Quinoa Burger with Adobo Sauce
• Green Garbanzo Beans & Cracked Wheat Salad with Sun-Dried Tomatoes
• Popcorn Chicken with Twice-Boiled Pasta and Dry-Aged Jello Squares

The world has gotten a lot fancier since we were college students, and Yale’s dining halls are no exception. Over the last few years, Yale Hospitality (as it is now known) has earned a national reputation for its nutrition and wellness programs, culinary authenticity, and sustainability in food sourcing and production. On campus today you’re more likely to find a chef dishing out biffinbap featuring locally-sourced ingredients than shoveling rubber chicken from a steambat. You’ll also see more plant-based options and revamped, lower-sodium offerings (which is good news for those of us fighting to get back to ‘98 shape!)

For more information on dining at Yale, check out https://hospitality.yale.edu/